Higher Education Quote of the Week:

"When we set the salary at $275,000, we only had one candidate." - Bubba Rasberry, Board of Regents Chairman, explaining to a Senate Committee why the Regents need the authority to offer a higher salary to prospective candidates for the job of LA Commissioner of Higher Education.

Dear Johnette,

There is $3.4 million in the state budget for Bossier Parish Community College, but with a projected revenue shortfall, the funding remains at risk of getting cut. BPCC is due to receive this additional funding because despite the school's remarkable growth and responsiveness to employer demand, BPCC receives less funding than any other college in the state. State Representative Jeff Thompson, R-Bossier City, told the Bossier Press Tribune, "Being in the budget is not the same as being in hand." Read more on BPCC's funding battle.

The Louisiana College Board of Trustees has ousted President Joe Aguillard after months of turmoil and damaging allegations, but his parting package is quite generous. When he leaves on May 31, he begins a one-year sabbatical at his full salary of more than $200,000, then when he returns, he assumes a position as a tenured professor. The interim President will be Argile Smith, the current Vice President for Integration of Faith and Learning. For the full story click here.
